

FTAA

Voices of Resistance

Justice for the Americas

The Free Trade Area of the Americas (FTAA) is an attempt to extend the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) to the entire western hemisphere. It would harm workers, farmers, indigenous peoples, the environment, public services, and democratic sovereignty while shifting more power into corporate hands. In essence, the FTAA would create the foundation for a vast sweatshop zone across the hemisphere.

Opposition to this corporate project is growing,
in Latin America, the Caribbean, North America, and here at home in Boston.

This March, Boston will host leaders of social movements from Mexico, Brazil and the United States, who together with local activists will present testimony on the effects of corporate globalization on their communities and ours – and how the FTAA will make things worse.

Come find out about plans for fighting the FTAA and how you can join the movement to stop it!

Saturday, March 23, 3:30-6:00pm
St. Anthony's Shrine
100 Arch Street, Boston
(near Downtown Crossing)

Spanish translation available.

The day will be dedicated to Archbishop Oscar Arnulfo Romero, murdered by El Salvador's death squads on March 16, 1980.

For more information contact:

Catherine Benedict, Boston Global Action Network, catherinebenedict@earthlink.net
Cassie Watters, Jobs with Justice, cassiefw@aol.com www.bostonglobalaction.net • www.faireconomy.org • www.massjwj.net